Nick Stairs EngTech TMIStructE
Director

I joined JPP in 1986 when it was known as The John Parkhouse Partnership and became an Associate in 2005. In 2016 I became a Director leading the Structural Engineering, Infrastructure Design, Insurance and Party Wall teams in our Milton Keynes office.

I am experienced across the multiple aspects of Structural & Civil Engineering disciplines from small housing projects to multi-storey framed structures.

After being made a Director of JPP Consulting in February 2016, I have enjoyed the challenge of promoting steady growth of the company whilst valuing our current client base, which results in a large degree of repeat business.

My areas of expetise are highways engineering, drainage, structural engineering and project management.
