

Fraser Boyce CEng MIStructE Associate

SMITH FOSTER

a JPP group company

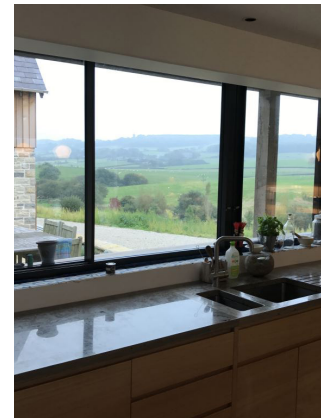

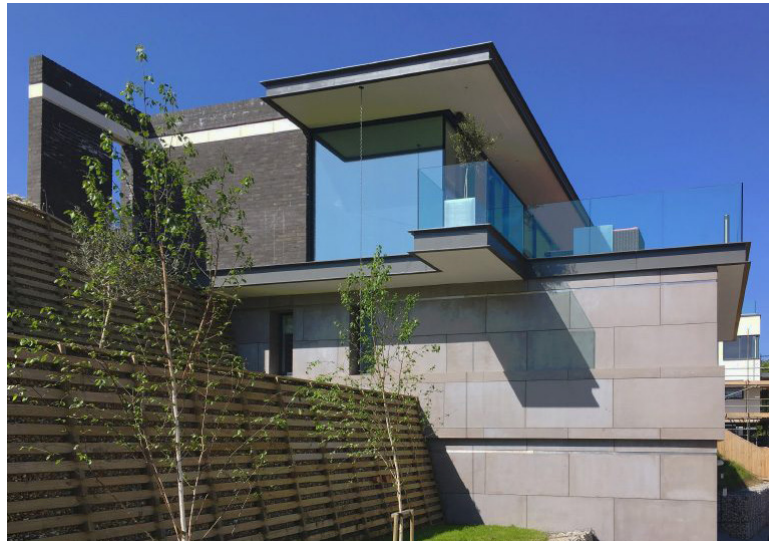

I joined Smith Foster in May 2014 following a period of over twenty five years with civil and structural engineering consultancies throughout the South East of England. Immediately prior to starting with Smith Foster I worked as an Associate for fourteen years.

I predominantly worked in the UK within the building structures sector. I obtained associate membership status with the Institution of Structural Engineers in 1997 and have been a full member of the Institution of Structural Engineers since 2007.

My project experience includes commercial offices, residential developments for large developers and numerous bespoke architect designed residences, health, leisure and educational schemes all ranging in scale from £0.1m to £15m.

I have undertaken alteration and strengthening work on a wide variety of structures, basement, facade retention schemes and refurbishment of listed buildings. I have also acquired a wide knowledge of general building construction and compiled many reports in connection with structural defects as well as having experience as an expert witness.
